Quiet town meeting season is expected

The local town meeting season begins Monday evening at 7 p.m., in Newry and will conclude March 30 in Woodstock.

Local officials are predicting a relatively quiet season this year. With the economy in the doldrums, new town projects-and the increased town taxes needed to support them-are pretty much a thing of the past. And new growth-control regulations—which only a few years ago could be counted on to provoke heated debate-are also few and far between. Even municipal election battles promise to be less heated than in the past, with few hotly fought contests loomingexcept perhaps for the West Paris road commissioner post.

This year's town meeting schedule is listed on page two. Below is a preview of the upcoming week's meetings.

NEWRY

Town budget down by 8.6 percent; no special projects go to voters

By WENDY HANSCOM

At their Town Meeting last March, that had dropped 5 percent from the previous year, and this year the proposed budget has dropped again. On March 2 voters will be asked to approve a municipal budget of $293,466—a decrease of 8.6 percent from last year.

Selectmen are not proposing any special projects for 1992, which is the main reason for the budget decrease, according to Selectman Steve Wight.

"The town is in a much better financial position than it was last year," Wight said. "According to our computer consultant, Don Bennett, we're $120,000 to the good, which is about two school payments. That should lessen the amount of money the town has to borrow until taxes come in again." Last year the town borrowed $250,000 and paid $10,000 in interest on the loan, he said.

Wight said the surplus comes from accounts and the payment of back on Pioneer Street.

WEST PARIS

Cut in animal control officer's salary; fees proposed for tire disposal

By WENDY HANSCOM

Among the 63 warrant articles to be Newry voters approved a town budget considered at Tuesday's Town Meeting, West Paris residents will likely linger longest over two selectmen-sponsored proposals designed to save moeny.

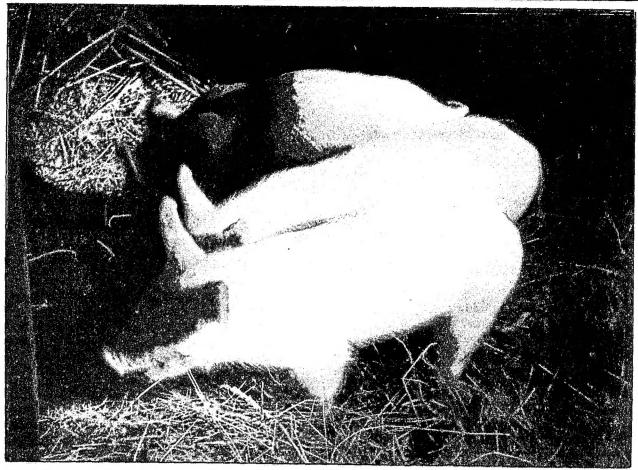

The first of these, a proposal to charge residents for depositing tires at the transfer station, was defeated at last year's meeting. The other is a proposal to cut the amount of money for animal control by 50 percent.

Arguing that the town can ill-afford to spend in excess of $4,500 again this year to have tires transported out of the transfer station, the selectmen are proposing to charge residents $2 for passenger tires, $5 for large truck and equipment tires and $10 for tractor and skidder-type tires.

Including labor and transportation costs, the town of West Paris spent a total of $4,539.25 last year to have the Sawyer Environmental Company and Gordon Tire haul an estimated 3,000 lower-than-expected spending in some tires from the town's transfer station

Gould frosh head for Hungary

The thirty Gould Academy freshmen travelling to Hungary this week will be treated to an atypical look at that country during their two weeks there-thanks to Zoltan Fodor, a Hungarian biology teacher and Fulbright recipient who traded places with a counterpart from Gould Academy. The Fulbright Exchange Program brought Gould's Steve Sanborn to Fodor's institution, the Varga Katalin School in Szolnok, Hungary.

Fodor said that attending classes at the academically competitive school and visiting intellectual and cultural sites with the Hungarian faculty will give the Gould students a more intimate look at the Eastern European nation than most tourists have the opportunity of seeing. For instance, students will do artwork with friends of Fodor's in Tiszavrkony, an artistic enclave north of Budapest, and will attend classes at Varga in geography, physics, math, and English—all taught in English.

Varga Katalin's classes are taught in either English or Hungarian, which made it possible for Gould's biology teacher Steve Sanborn to teach there

Prepping for abroad

The Gould freshmen class will leave for Hungary tomorrow (Feb. 27)—bearing gifts from western Maine in the form of Weather Sticks for their host families in Szolnok.

Gould biology teacher Steve San-born, who is teaching biology at the host school, will be at the airport to meet the group. Sanborn, who has spent the semester teaching at the bilingual Varga Katalin Gimnazium, reports he has been treated well. "The only thing he's asked for is one bag of Cool Ranch Doritos, a six-pack of Cherry Coke, and a Ta-Ka-Radi bag," said colleague Sue Gardner, who recently received a letter from Sanborn.

For the ten days prior to their departure, the Gould class has been hosting a group of students from the Hungarian school. The Gould hosts have set up tours for their visitors of Boston and New York, and a meeting with Governor McKernan last Thursday. The Hungarian students also took in Gould Carnival last weekend, and got ski lessons yesterday from Gould Rug Rats Program instructors.

Bush, Tsongas are the local party choices

By MICHAEL DANIELS

There were few surprises at the local Republican and Democratic caucuses this weekend.

President George Bush was the near unanimous choice of local Republicans over challenger Pat Buchanan, who didn't campaign in the state.

And local Democrats favored former Massachusetts Senator Paul Tsongas over the rest of the field of would-be Democratic presidential challengers. Former California Governor Jerry Brown, who campaigned extensively in the state, matched Tsongas almost delegate-for-delegate at the state level, but fell short locally, taking four delegates to Tsongas' eight and Bill Clinton's five.

The local Republican and Democratic delegates will next travel to their respective state conventions, to be held in Augusta in May. There they will elect 23 Republicans and 22 Democrats to represent the state at the national conventions.

Back at the local level, both Republicans and Democrats agree the November election could be a lot more interesting than would have been thought at this time a year ago.

The local Republicans might be united behind President Bush, said State Rep. Al Barth of Bethel, but "many are extremely disappointed in the president, especially in his handling of the economy."

On the other side of the political fence, Newry Democratic Chairman Rockie Graham, who is challenging Barth for his state seat, described local Dempcrats as "upbeat about the fall. They really feel Bush is vulnerable.'

The caucus results for local town and the delegates (where available) are listed below.

Republicans

Andover: Bush-2 (Bill and Paula Smith). Uncommitted—1.

Bethel: Bush-4 (Karen Brown-Mohr, Carl Hansen, Stan Howe, Rebecca Kendall). Greenwood: Bush-1 (Heywood Sawyer). Uncommitted-1. Newry: Bush-1 (Mary Tripp).

West Paris: Caucus not yet held. No date set.

Woodstock: Bush-2 (Sylvia Stowell-Hauzenblas, Helen Remsen.

DEMOCRATS Albany: Tsongas-1.

GONE NOW-Five pine trees that stood behind the Norseman Inn for a century and a half are now gone.

Mayville pines come down

Mrs. Eldridge, Irving, Edmund, Roscoe and Ruby fall to the winds of change

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Five, century-and-a-half-old pine trees behind the Norseman Inn in Mayville were cut down Tuesday morning—to make it safer for planes to fly into and out of Bethel's Col. Dyke Airport.

The trees were taken down as the result of an avigational easement obtained by the town from inn owners, John and Dale Cheney. The easement allows the town to remove any obstacles to the airfield's flight corridors—in this case the tall pine trees. The easement was required by the Federal Aviation Administration before it would reimburse the town for a final $45,000 in costs for the construction of the new runway at the airfield. Three-way negotiations (involving the town, the owners and the FAA) on the easement had been underway for nearly five years. According to Town Manager Madeleine Henley, the process was constantly been held up by FAA bureaucratic obstructions. The town and FAA are also negotiating for an easement to relocate the Harrington Barn on the Northwest Bethel Road and to clear other trees near the airport's flight path.

None of the other trees are as visible, or as old, as the pines behind the Norseman Inn. The price eventually settled upon for the easement over the Norseman property is $10,000, which will be paid approximately 95 percent by of Transportation. Innkeeper John Cheney estimated that the trees were 150 years old, and about 120 feet tall. He said the names of the trees had been found the FAA and 5 percent by the Maine Department in a history of the inn. The family the trees were named after had transplanted the seedling pines from the banks of the Androscoggin River behind what is now the Riverside Cemetery, Cheney said.

The trees were taken down by Sunday River Tree Service. Fred Burk, who owns the tree service, said they suffered from Red Heart, but still might have lived on for many years.

The wood, Burk said, will be thrown out, since it is too big to be cut in local mills and is full of

The tall pine trees are not the only Mayville landmarks that will have to go to accommodate the enlarged airport. The picturesque barn, located across from John Mason's dental office, will also have to be moved approximately 1,000 feet back from the road, to a location where it will be clear of the airport approaches.

Henley said the estimated cost of moving the barn is $50,000.

The barn, currently owned by Frank and Gerald Harrington, dates from the early to mid 19th century, according to Randy Bennett, curator of collections for the Bethel Historical Society and an expert on Oxford County architecture.

This will be at least the fourth move for the venerable building, Bennett said. It was originally constructed in Gilead, at the Chapman Homestead, and was moved to its current location—the site of the former Riverside Park Fairgrounds-in 1915.

The barn has received state approval to be nominated for the National Register of Historical Places, Bennett said.

Elderly couple robbed at home in West Paris

By LIZ CHAPMAN

Police are searching for three men who forced their way into an elderly couple's home in West Paris Monday afternoon, stole hundreds of dollars in cash and left a 75-year-old woman handcuffed to a refrigerator.

Oxford County Sheriff's Detective Cpt. James Miclon said Tuesday that police think the suspects in the West Paris robbery are also involved in the robbery of an elderly women in Sumner on Saturday and an attempt in Sumner to gain entry into another

Oxford County Sheriff's Office Capt. James Miclon and Bethel Chief of Police Dale Bellman are warning local residents not let strangers into their homes especially strangers claiming to be service people or contractors.

Miclon is asking Oxford County residents to call the sheriff's office to report any suspicious activity by strangers. Elderly people need to be especially cautious, Miclon said, because thieves posing as service people know that the elderly usually pay their bills promptly and with cash. He said elderly local residents should not keep large amounts of cash in their homes.

"Keep the doors locked during the day," Chief Bellman said. "Don't let any strangers in, not even to use the phone. If they tell you it's an emergency, tell them you'll call the police. It's absolutely not safe out there today."

COUNTY TAXES WILL BE DOWN To the Editor:

I would like to comment and set the record straight in regards to an article that appeared in the Feb. 12 Citizen. This article was entitled "Town budgets go on the line" and made reference to declining state support, but rising school, county and insurance costs.

The county commissioners along, with their budget committee, made a sincere effort to reduce costs at the county level. There were no general wage or salary increases for either the employees or office holders. Every line item was reviewed and appropriate cuts made. The net results were a decline of 6.8 percent in the county budget.

This reduction did not translate into a general reduction of 6.8 percent to each town in the county. This is due to

For instance Bethel's county tax dropped 9.6 percent, but Hanover's went up 11.7 percent (Chamberlain Resort came on the tax roll in 1992).

The point I am trying to make is that county costs did not go up as indicated in the second paragraph of the article, but actually went down, as Woodstock Town Manager Vern Maxfield stated in the same report.

This letter is not intended to be critical of an excellent and very well written report of a very important subject, but rather to point out the perception that may be created by paragraph

Childrens Center plans raffle, yardsale

The Parent Group at the West Bethel Children's Center will hold a fund-raising raffle and a large indoor yard sale on Saturday, March 7, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Telstar High School in the cafeteria. The event has been in the planning stage since November.

This year's parents and teachers hope to use the proceeds of the fundraiser to provide a new merry-go-round for the center's playground and to upgrade the rest of the playground.

The goal is to raise approximately $1,000 to make this a reality for the children of the center. The center houses both the Head Start Program and the Day Care Program.

More than 20 prizes have already been donated by Bethel area businesses. The winners of the raffle will be drawn the day of the yard sale. As the names of the winners are drawn, they will get to choose from the list of prizes available. For more information on raffle tickets, contact the center at 836-3700.

Tables will be available for rent for anyone who would like to sell crafts, food, goodies and other trinkets. Some of the items to be sold at the yard sale are jewelry, trinkets, food, used clothing, other used items, as well as beautiful homemade crafts from knitted to handmade wooden crafts.

Anyone who is unable to attend the yard sale, but would like to assist in efforts to raise the money can send donations to the West Bethel Children's Center, P.O. Box 56, West Bethel, Me.,

Rep. Al Barth

The Legislature is now meeting on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons and efficiency of state programs and with committee work occupying Mondays and Wednesdays and the time prior to session. This four-day week is not only a welcome change of pace from the frantic all-night sessions of last year, but the four-day week is less expensive to the taxpayers. We are dealing with a large number of bills right now. I will sum up a few that may be of interest to Western Maine citizens.

LD 2191, "An Act to Authorize the Construction of Two Veteran's Homes in Eastern and Western Maine," authorizes the Board of Trustes of the Maine Veterans' Homes to build two homes, one to be placed in eastern Maine and the other in western Maine. the homes located in the Bangorareas, the entire Oxford County delegation is working to locate the western Maine home in Oxford County.

This bill presents an opportunity to plan, develop and operate additional state veterans' homes at no cost to the State of Maine for construction. Each home will have 120 beds and 40 special care beds designed and staffed to treat the behavioral problems caused by Alzheimer's Disease and related dementia. The two new facilities are to be located on state-owned land. In order to take advantage of the excess VA construction grant money for fiscal year 1992, a pre-application must be filed by April 15.

Think of the jobs this could create! LD 1860, "An Act to Require Preparation of Impact Statements" would require every state department to prepare impact statements to assist the Legislature in evaluating the value services. Under the proposed law, agencies would submit their impact and Program Review Committee. This bill received an "ought not to pass" from the Audit and Program Review Committee, although it may resurface in the omnibus audit bill.

statements to the governor and Audit

LD 1902, "An Act to Establish a Professional Standards Board for Maine Education" would replace the State Board of Education in matters pertaining to the certification of educational personnel. The board would be composed of seven public school teachers, three public school administrators, two teacher educators and one public member.

This bill passed in the Education Although efforts are underway to have Committee by a 9-4 vote along party lines. I voted against it because we Brewer area and the Lewiston-Auburn already have a certification system in place and do not want to see another bureaucracy created. Also, the whole concept of certification is under review and it would be prudent to wait see what changes are recommended.

The issue of monitoring toxic pollutants in Maine's waters has surfaced in two bills before the Energy and Natural Resources Committee.

FROM THE Bethel Town Office

For this week's topic I have chosen to open a particularly nasty can of worms-village snow removal. As you all know, the long-standing policy of the Town of Bethel, and every other town in the area, has been to do the majority of this work at night. The argument for this practice is primarily grounded in safety concerns. Snow removal requires many vehicles, working in unison. To have both pedestrian and auto traffic to contend with is asking for an accident to Additionally, there is the matter of access. One can hardly expect a good job of clearing the curbs when cars are parked all along it. Hence, the overnight parking ban. The downside of this, however, is that those people trying to sleep in the village will be awakened. Snow removal is a noisy job. Few can sleep through the "beep-beep" of a truck's reverse direction alarm. Over the years, most of the residents seem to have become accustomed to the racket. They grudgingly understand and accept the necessity for it. However visitors to town, sleeping at the inns and motels, often have a trying time of it. Needless to say, when the visitors are disturbed, the motel and inn owners become upset. They would obviously prefer daytime snow removal, since for the most part their customers are out of the village during the day.

This issue demonstrates the need for balancing opposing parties objectives, and proves that sometimes "win-win" solutions are simply nonexistent. Madeleine Henley

JANE YOUNG RETIREMENT OPEN HOUSE

There will be an open house Sunday March 1, in honor of the retirement of Jane Young from the U.S. Postal

The open house will be held at the Methodist Church in Bethel from : 2-4 p.m., and the public is invited.

State government's fee scam The governor, leaders of legislature and legislators as a body are telling the people of Maine that they are down-sizing government. But the view from any public window-tax or otherwise-strips the bark from that political posture and exposes the myth. Next year's state budget will be more than this year's. State employees as of June 30, 1991, were approximately 14,200. Indications are that state employees will be about the same come June, 1992. Departments of the state bureaucracy that are taking "hits" are rapidly filling those voids with a plethora of escalating fee bills. State gummint is really business as usual after the political facade is stripped away.

The bureaucracy has a built-in money faucet. Money lost can be money replenished through increased fees. Just about any function of Maine society requires gummint approval which requires fees and licenses. Two examples:

The Dept. of Marine Resources went through, as all departments, a 10 percent reduction (somewhat) in budget to help balance the total state budget. The DMR commissioner wasn't distraught. On the contrary, he was quite complacent cutting his budget nearly that suggested by the appropriations committee.

DMR came right back replenishing its budget with a bill that raised all 20 DMR license fees by some 70 percent. The DMR committee approved it, the legislature approved it and the governor signed it-all without a whimper.

Now comes the same scam with the Dept. of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife. Only on a bigger

IF&W is a $20 million department. It nearly went bankrupt three years ago. That was because the department (and lobbyists) insisted it operate on "dedicated funds." That is, money raised by IF&W went only to IF&W, not the general fund.

Well, the fish and game bureaucracy got bigger, its revenues fell and the ultimate financial deficit became a scandal. The embarrassing dilemma was solved by changing the department's funding mechanism. IF&W expenses were switched to the state's general fund. But there was a kicker.

The state's fish and game lobby (SAM, etc.) shored up by money and influence from national blood sports groups like National Rifle Association, and the billions of special interest trade manufacturers, made sure that Maine IF&W didn't succumb to a capricious general fund full of unwashed potatoes, child welfare, potholed roads, leaking ferryboats and about 500 other money grubbing state agency hands groping for tax money. Here's what happened: When the funding law was changed the statutory language was included to ensure that IF&W "would ALWAYS receive an annual appropriation from the general fund equal to or greater than the total amount of revenue collected by the department during the course of the year.

Obviously, any increase in license fees provides at least an equivalent amount from the general fund. It's bureaucracy budget deficit insurance.

And that's what LD 2332 (A Governor's Bill!) is all about. Not about down-sizing state gummint, not about trimming state bureaucracy, not about the state living within its means, not about lowering taxes. It's about a state department recouping a cool $2,300,000 by raising fees of all its 39 licenses.

In other words, it's another political scam from

THIS WEEK AT THE

Moses Mason House

A steady flow of visitors attended the 18th annual Heritage Day held on Saturday, Feb. 22, at the headquarters of the Bethel Historical Society, the Dr. Moses Mason House.

The day featured a wide variety of craftspeople exhibiting and demonstrating their crafts: Florence Hastings, rug braiding; Mike Murphy, carving; several spinners including Lorrie Hoeh and Eva Paulsen: Virginia Keniston, quilting; Hans Paulsen, caning; Louise Seames, basketmaking; Grace McKivergan, weaving; Barbara H. Brown, dried flower arrangement.

A local art show coordinated by Helen Morton graced the walls of the meeting room.

Participating in the local history book fair were several Oxford County historical societies. Historical videos were shown continuously throughout the afternoon and visitors touring the museum were treated with Indian pudding served from the hearth of the winter kitchen. Guides for the day were Judy Haskell, Mildred Thomas and Helen Morton assisted by Ernest and Betty Perkins, portraying Dr. and Mrs. Mason.

The next monthly meeting of the Bethel Historical Society will feature a history of skiing in the Bethel area. This meeting will be held on Thursday, March 5, in the meeting room of the Dr. Moses Mason House. A video on the history of skiing will be shown following presentation of the Bethel portion of the program. The meeting is open to anyone interested.

New life members of the Bethel Historical Society are Francis Berry of Bethel and Barbara Merrill Lapham of Hanover. New members include Roy E. Kilgore of Nipomo, Calif. and Eugenia M. Spalding of Tewksbury, Mass. New business members are Lowell's Saw Shop of Bethel and Stuart Crocker, Architect of Bethel. A hearty welcome and much appreciation is extended to all of the above. This time, the three men forced their way into the home and ordered the elderly man to the floor, while they took his wife into the kitchen and handcuffed her to the refrigerator door, Miclon said. Capt. Miclon said the suspects

The students will see first hand how Hungary relies on bilingual or multilingual schools-in English, French, German, Russian, and Italian-to prepare students for the international marketplace. Szolnok in particular sits at an economic crossroads between Eastern and Western Europe-in fact, it has the largest train terminal on the European continent, and is the second largest center of transport in Europe.

The Hungarian students currently being hosted by Gould are focusing their two weeks in Boston, New York City and the state of Maine, but Hungary's smaller physical size means the Gould freshmen will see many cities, including former capitals of the Austro-Hungarian Empire, Visegrad and Esztergom. The visiting students have also been sharing their culture through many informal conversations with local families and students, as well as in daily all-school assemblies this week with slide shows and talks.

Visiting Hungarian biology teacher Zoltan Fodor has helped to prepare the Gould travelers, by teaching sessions on basic Hungarian expressions like "Jo reggelt" (Good morning), "Koszonom" (thank you), and "Amerikai diak vagyok" (I'm an American student).

The Hungarian students have been helping, too-arming students with essentials like "Kerek egy colat (Please give me a cola.)" to ensure their survival. The trip is an especially big occa-

Huber: Maine's 25 percent recycling goal within reach 38 percent of its waste stream. Kit-

Maine expects to meet its statewide recycling goal of 25 percent, according to Sherry F. Huber, director of the Maine Waste Management Agency.

In 1988, Maine recycled 16 percent of the waste stream. At the time, cities and towns were responsible for one percent of the state-wide recycling rate. The results from the first of Maine towns to report their recycling progress indicate an average 12 percent recycling rate for 1991.

Huber said, "The twelve-fold increase in recycling since 1988 represents dramatic achievement the part of Maine municipalities."

In addition to the recycling progress made by municipalities, the agency expects that commercial recycling has increased, as has the amount of material removed from the waste stream through the bottle deposit law. "When these recycling efforts are combined with municipal recycling, I am confident the State will exceed the Jan. 1, 1992, recycling goal of 25 percent established by the Legislature," Huber said. The highest municipal recycling rate reported so far is from the Town of Kittery, which is recycling tery, with a population of 9,000, recycles corrugated cardboard, newspaper, telephone directories, glass, aluminum, wood waste, some construction and demolition debris, batteries, and scrap metal. Kittery also composts yard and, leaf waste and operates a "freebee barn." Kittery's highly successful corrugated cardboard recycling program and its construction and demolition debris recycling are some reasons for Kittery's success, according to Jody L. Harris, Director of the Office of Waste Reduction and Recycling. In addition, Kittery has mandatory recycling and an extensive education program, said Harris.

Of the other towns reporting, Lubec, Norridgewock, Cambridge; Yarmouth, Mechanic Falls, Saco, St. George, Hudson, Appleton, and Gray have achieved a recycling rate of 20 percent or more. Maine towns are in the process of reporting their recycling activity and their progress towards the state's recycling goals to the Maine Waste Management Agency. To date, 41 towns have filed these reports which are due on March 1,

The bill would also require the DEP to report its conclusions on toxic contamination levels to the Energy and Natural Resources Committee and the likely scope of toxic contamination in the state's water. The report would be due Dec. 31, 1993.

In addition, the program would be funded by fees assessed to industries and municipal waste water treatment plants that have shown in previous studies to discharge toxins.

A similar bill before the Committee is LD 2237 which would set up a toxic monitoring program. LD 2237 will test water quality, sediments and fish species in Maine's rivers at risk from toxic pollution; identify the impact of toxins on the environment and risks to humans; and be funded solely through waste water discharge monitoring fees assessd according to the nature and amount of waste water discharge.

Neither bill has been deliberated in work session as of yet. Some concerns have been expressed by the administration in regard to the proposed costs of each program.

The Human Resources Committee has discussd in detail the proposed budget for the Department of Human Services and Mental Health and Mental Retardation. Over the years, a multiplicity of welfare programs have evolved.

They range from locally administered General Assistance programs to the AFDC and Food Stamp programs, which serve over 130,000 basis of known or likely toxic con- Maine citizens each year. Also includtamination. The program would also ed are such programs as subsidized test fish present in the aforemention- housing, the school lunch program, telephone subsidy, WIC and HEAP. Federal funding rules and regulations have greatly influenced the administrative locations of many of these programs.

Caseloads have increased most dramatically in AFDC, 5.36 percent; food stamps, 12.4 percent; and Medicaid, 3.1 percent. In Oxford County, AFDC showed a greater than average growth of 6.2 percent. Medicaid grew faster than average growth in both Franklin County, 4.8 percent, and Oxford County, 8.5 percent.

The so-called "Girl Scout bill," LD 2005, was tabled last week. This bill, "An Act to Ensure that Certain Sales by Boy Scouting and Girl Scouting Organizations are Exempt from Sales Tax," would exempt Girl Scout cookies and Boy Scout popcorn from the snack tax passed last session. The committee decided to table the bill until later in the session to review other exemptions.

ICE ANGLERS CONTRIBUTE BIG BUCKS TO STATE ECONOMY

Anglers who fish through the ice in Maine contribute more than $5 million to the state's economy in live bait purchases alone, according to a 1991 survey by the Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife.

Last winter, under the direction of biologist Fred Kircheis of the department's Fisheries Research Section, fisheries biologists and student creel census clerks asked ice anglers about the type, amount and source of their live bait. In addition, they contacted retail bait shops to learn the prices being charged for live bait.

From this information Kircheis estimated the value of Maine live bait sales for winter fishing in Maine's freshwater at $5.4 million.

He also learned that approximately 90 percent of all winter anglers purchase their live bait, while only 8 percent capture their own. The remainder use a combination of purchased and captured live bait.

Some other findings of the survey: Smelts and suckers are used more in March than in January, when more minnows are used (possibly because smelts, the preferred bait for coldwater game fish, are more available

 Anglers who fish for warmwater species (bass, pickerel, perch, etc.) use significantly more minnows and fewer smelts and suckers;

 On some waters which restrict the number of lines per angler, smelts and suckers are the believed to be the best baits and offer the best chance for attracting salmon and togue.

 On some waters which prohibit the use of live bait but permit dead fish for bait, suckers and smelts are the preferred bait. Suckers are predominantly used as cut-bait.

NOTES FROM

Telstar Guidance

On March 2, the Freshmen Awareness Committee at Telstar will present a half day follow-up workshop for the ninth grade at the Bethel Inn.

The main theme of "Living in the 90s" will showcase responsibilities, relationships and respect as key points. The students will receive presentations from Ms. Maureen Page, a family health educator with Tri-County Family Services and the F.A.C.T. students. Large group sessions on specific topics will be followed by small group sessions facilitated by the F.A.C.T. members. Parents and community members are cordially invited to attend the large group sessions which will focus on AIDS education, male/female responsibilities and a movie, Teen AIDS in

Bethel Historical Society sponsors essay contest

Dr. Stanley R. Howe, director of the Bethel Historical Society, has announced that the Society will once again sponsor the Dr. Moses Mason

Wednesday, February 25, 1992

Award essay contest. Named for Dr. Moses Mason (1789-1866), whose notes on local history are now preserved in the Society's archives, the award is made annually to the Gould Academy or Telstar Regional High School student, who in the opinion of the judges, writes the best essay on local history.

The award, consisting of a $100 savings bond and a certificate of commendation suitable for framing, is presented at the respective school's annual awards ceremony. It was established in 1978 by the Society's Board of Trustees to promote student research in local history. In order to qualify, the student must be in grades 9-12 either at Gould or Telstar and submit an original essay of at least 500 but not more than 3,000 words based on primary sources (contemporary newspapers, diaries, letters, oral recollections, etc.) discussing a local history subject (confined to Oxford County).

Papers in the past have dealt with a diversity of subjects, ranging from floods, logging, coffin making to medicine. Students interested in learning more about the contest should contact school officials and/or call the Society office at 824-2908. The deadline for all submissions is Friday, May 1, 1992.

Students wishing to do research are urged to use the collections of the Bethel Historical Society, which are particularly rich in materials relating to western Maine. The Society is open throughout the year 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., M-F.

This contest is part of the varied edcuational opportunities offered by the Bethel Historical Society, which for over 25 years has been dedicated to preserving and interpreting the local past for present and future generations.

kilometer race.

Gould's girl's cross-country ski team Freshman Jessica Trundy of Rumford won the 4 x 2.5 kilometer relay by over a minute Wednesday to capture first place in the New England Prep School Championships.

Combined with a strong second place alpine finish a week earlier, the girl's won the overall alpine championship ahead of Holderness School, Northfield Mt. Hermon, Vermont Academy, Phillips Andover, and Proctor Academy.

The winning relay team consisted of Samantha Langlois and Susan Crandall of Bethel, Carrie Alden of Auburn, and Gwen Stockwell of Bridgton.

Melissa Palmer makes UNE Dean's List

Melissa L. Palmer of Bethel has been named to the Dean's List at New England College.

A senior at the four-year college in southern New Hampshire, she is the daughter of Francis and Louise Palmer of Bethel.

To be named to the Dean's List, fulltime students must maintain a 3.5 average based on a four-point scale for the semester.

Final plans have been made for our two fund raisers for the fifth grade trip to Boston. On Saturday morning, Feb. 29, we will be having a bottle drive. Cam Turner, who has a bottle redemption center, right in West Paris, next to the town office, has offered the use of his facilities from start to finish. This will make it much easier for us to sort and count bottles without having to deliver them at the end. We will have volunteers out collecting, but any who wish, may bring their bottles and cans directly to Cam's Redemption Center from 9 a.m. to noon on Feb. 29.

Two fifth-grade parents, Beverly Farrar and Dixie Inman, have made a Rail Fence quilt which will be on display at the Oxford Bank and Trust in West Paris. We are accepting $1 for donations for a chance on the quilt, and the drawing will be on April 1. No Fooling! Tickets will be available at the bank and from fifth grade parents. Should Your Company

This article is brought to you by Jane D. Gray, CPA Business owners seeking the liability protection of a corporation without the extra level of taxation of a regular corporation should explore the S corporation alternative. The primary benefit of electing S corporation status is that an S corporation generally pays no income tax at the corporate level. The corporation's income is passed through to the shareholders and taxed on their individual income tax returns.

A regular corporation pays tax on corporation income. When the corporation distributes this income as dividends, shareholders are taxed again on the dividends they receive.

The S corporation does have some disadvantages. Generally, it must use a calendar year-end. Also, it is limited to 35 shareholders and may only have one class of stock. Though an S corporation can deduct certain fringe benefits provided for shareholder-employees, those employees who own more than 2% of the corporation's stock will have the benefits taxed to them as additional wages, Regular "C" corporations considering a switch to S corporation status must consider a number of additional factors including the built-in gains tax and the treatment of carryover items (tax credits or losses). Calendar-year corporations must file an election by March 15, 1992, in order to be treated as S corporations for 1992. Before an election is made, the impact on both the corporation and its individual shareholders should be considered. Contact us for more information and an analysis of whether an S corporation is right for your business.

Owning a Home Can Mean Tax Savings

Certain expenses you incur when owning your home may reduce your tax bill. From the time you buy your home until you sell it, these expenses may affect your taxes by increasing your itemized deductions or reducing a gain on the sale of your home.

Buying Your Home

From the day you buy a home, expenses such as closing costs, mortgage interest and real estate taxes may help reduce your present and future tax bills.

Basis: Generally, the basis for tax purposes is your qualifying cost, and it will depend in a large part on how you acquire your home. Your basis may be your purchase price or the cost of construction or the fair market value if you inherited your home. An explanation of "basis" is in Publication 551, Basis of Assets.

Points: You may deduct qualifying points paid when you purchased your home. They are fully deductible for the year of purchase, if specific conditions are met.

Closing Costs: Closing costs involve many items such as your portion of property taxes and mortgage interest paid at settlement, which may be deductible. Other costs, such as transfer taxes, attorney's fees and surveys may be added to the "basis" of your home.

For information on when and how to deduct points and how to treat closing costs, see IRS Publication 530, Tax Information for Homeowners.

Owning Your Home

While you own a home, you may make payments for interest, taxes, repairs and improvements. Many of these will affect your taxes.

Home Improvement: Keep receipts for all home improvements. An improvement materially adds to the value of your home, extends its useful life or adapts it to new usage and the costs will be added to your basis.

Repairs for upkeep or routine maintenance, such as painting or gutter repair, are not improvements. However, if you pay these costs as part of a remodeling or restoration project, the entire cost may be considered "home improvement" and may be added to the basis.

Mortgage Interest: You generally may deduct qualifying mortgage interest as an itemized deduction on Schedule A (Form 1040), See Publication 936, Home Mortgage Interest Deduction, for any restrictions that may apply to you.

Taxes: The qualifying assessed property tax you pay is also an itemized deduction. Be sure you deduct the amount actually paid for property tax, not the amount placed in escrow by your lender to cover property tax. Casualty and Theft Losses: A limited amount of personal property loss due to a casualty or theft may be deductible. Insurance reimbursements will reduce the amount of the deductible loss. Publication 530, Tax Information for Homeowners, discusses deductible loss and how to

The sale of your home must be reported on Form 2119, "Sale of Your Home," but whether you will owe tax on any gain will depend on whether you buy a new home, its cost, and your age. Postponement of Tax: Generally, you postpone paying tax on the gain from the sale of your main home if you buy and reside in a new home within two years before or two years after the sale and if the purchase price is at least as much as the adjusted sales price of the old home. If you do not buy a new home, but are age 55 or older on the date of sale, you may be able to exclude all or a portion of your gain. Selling Expenses: Selling expenses may include commissions, advertising, loan charges (seller's points) and legal fees. Subtract these expenses from the selling price of your old home to determine the amount you must spend on your next house to postpone the tax on any gain. Fixing-up Expenses: Decorating and repairs done in order to sell your home may affect the amount of gain on which the tax is postponed, but the costs can't be deducted from actual profit. Publication 523, Tax Information on Selling Your Home, covers all the limitations to fixing-up expenses and many other tax issues related to selling your home.

Publications/Forms of Interest to the Homeowner

Some of the IRS publications that discuss the tax consequences of home ownership and other related issues are listed below. To order, call toll-free 1-800-TAX-FORM (1-800-829-3676). Publication 523, Tax Information

One day this week I saw something go by my house that in all my years had never seen before. A truck was driven by, loaded with hay and covered with snow. That made me think of those old time vehicles and the rides that had no protection from the

Even though that was many years ago, they got there just the same.

Old-timers remember the surreys and how the ownership of one put you in the "top-ten" in any village or neighborhood. The surrey was a bright and shining vehicle with two seats with upholstery and over all a top. A fringe of tassels went all the way around the top and made it gaily festooned. It was driven by a team of well-matched horses. I remember seeing them but my father never had one. I do remember however driving a horse up the hills and down the valleys of our towns. Two incidents still remain clear to me: the first time that I drove a horse alone and a bitter cold evening with my sister.

The first was when I was about 10 years old. My mother became ill and awoke me about 5 a.m. and asked me to harness the horse and to drive four miles to get my father who was at work as a night watchman at a village mill. I went but I was really frightened for the horse was lively, I sat very stiff on the seat with my arms and hands straight in front holding the reins while my legs dangled. I felt very uncomfortable and was happy when I arrived at my destination. I was so tired that I remember thinking that driving a horse was very hard work, harder than anything that I had ever

My older sister drove when we went one evening to the store for groceries. This time it was winter and 20 below zero with a strong wind. We were in a cutter sleigh with a warm robe over our lap and a soapstone at our feet. Dolly, the horse, really stepped out and the jingle of the bells was music

I heard a man say as we left the store, "I wouldn't take that ride tonight. for one hundred dollars."

We were warm and had enjoyed it. Then there was the democrat wagon, a utility vehicle that may be likened to the modern station wagon. It was a box-like long sleigh set on long. runners. It was possible to put in two seats or just one. On a ride one evening my sister-in-law, I, and several others were spilled out, into the snow, where the road had drifted and one. side of the road was much higher than the other.

I also remember the bobsleighs, a farmer's most useful winter vehicle. These were made in two separate units hitched together with a "reach," on which one could move hay, grain, logs, or firewood. These, too, were used for sleigh rides. They were filled with straw or hay on which boys and girls sat and used blankets for warmth and took rides. Each horse wore bells which jingled through the clear, cold, starlit night, while the runners creaked underneath. They laughed and sang the ballads of the day. Each was happy and carefree. Sometimes they stopped at the house of a friend, where there was hot cocoa and lots of food to eat. There were games and dancing,

Sometimes when I ride in our modern cars, that cover in an hour .. what used to take a day, I think aboutthose horse-and-buggy days and wonder if we didn't get just as far in real achievement and happiness.

I wonder if those who live 50 or 60 years from now will see as much difference between their age and ours, as there exists between ours and that of 60 years ago. What do you think?

This is President's Day and what a.. nice one it has been. Most of the day there were fishermen on the pond. Toward night there was a fire at the camp on Mud Pond so the fire trucks

Shingles: Caused by the Chicken Pox Virus

Shingles, a painful nerve condition that occurs most often after age 45, is caused by zostervaricella, the same virus that causes chicken pox. It is thought that after a bout with chicken pox during childhood years, the zostervaricella virus moves along the nerves to an area in the body near the spinal cord and becomes dormant. It is theorized that physical and/oremotional injury to the body during the middle or late adult years reactivates the virus - only this time the virus causes the condition we refer to as shingles.

One of the early symptoms of shingles is a burning or shooting pain in the skin over the affected nerve. In a few days, red spots appear on the skin at the area of pain. Typically, these spots get larger, become filled with pus, and crust over. Shingles can affect nerves located in the chest, back, arms, legs, or face. Extreme cases may result in paralysis, loss of sight and hearing, and death due to viral or bacterial infection.

Recently the U.S. Food and Drug Administration approved acyclovir for the treatment of shingles. According to one study in a recent issue of FDA Consumer, patients who received acyclovir suffered less pain and discomfort during the acute phase of the illness. Capsaicin, a drug being tested in Canada, also reduces shingles pain.

the Society to help with the activities? Should the Society offer more or different programs and activities? Can the Society benefit from new technological developments and methods? These are but a few of the questions which should be considered. Curator Larry Billings has given the Society some of the old print from the Chase Store which he purchased from Basil Sequin. There were only a few pieces but he felt the museum should have some. Francis Brooks gave a big lot of paper items and photos to the historical museum. Larry Billings gave a tray with still-life of flowers on it and a basket like they used to make basketball hoops out of. Since these items were large they were put

Boiler Room liquor license approved

By WENDY HANSCOM

In most cases, a small town liquor license renewal hearing is a quiet, routine matter. But last week Woodstock selectmen listened for 90 minutes to occasionally heated debate between Boiler Room Restaurant owners, Rick and Ron Savage, and 12 Bryant Pond residents who used a license renewal hearing to vent their frustrations about noise from the restaurant.

Wednesday, February 25, 1992

The two groups argued over the degree of distrubance caused by live music at the restaurant and how much of the problem the Savages are directly responsible for.

The restaurant began featuring live bands in August, and Jean Blanchard, the restaurant's closest residential neighbor, said that live entertainment from 9:30 p.m. to closing on Friday and Saturday nights is much too loud. And after the music stops, she said, noisy, unruly crowds leave the building until 2 a.m.

"The latest thing that has happened," Blanchard said, "is people exiting the Boiler Room, after being there a good part of the evening, and going out racing with their vehicles on the lake. It's like you're right in the middle of Oxford Plains Speedway, because of the echo from the mountains. We don't want to cut out anybody's living, but we want to see our rights taken care

Ron Savage said that some measures have already been taken to reduce noise outside the restaurant, but that some of the neighbors' pro-many complaints from residents even when they did have to wait.

Resident Robin Wells told the group

"I have a snowblower, and even if I don't use the service, it is a nice service. For a lot of people in town it is the only thing they get for their taxes."

He said he also feels that if the majori-near a bar.

"I have no control over people coming and leaving the parking lot," Savage said. "Once they enter my property then I have control over them. I have no control over what they do from my property out. It's not that I don't feel for you. If I was living next door to it, then I'd probably have the same complaints. I just want to work some of these problems out."

Savage added that people leaving the restaurant-where they are exposed to loud music-may talk loudly in the parking lot. He said, however, that his patrons are asked to keep it down as they leave the building.

In December, the same group of citizens that attended last week's meeting submitted a petition to selectmen. In addition to complaining about noise, the petition called for selectmen to investigate reports that the restaurant is serving alcohol to

Savage, at last week's meeting, outlined in great detail the proceedure that restaurant employees follow to insure that no minors are served alcohol. He also pointed out that the restaurant has never been cited for serving minors. Following 90 minutes of increasingly repetitive debate, Town Manager Vern Maxfield called a halt to citizen comments portion. Selectmen then read through the conditions of the license renewal and voted to sign the renewal request. After the vote, Selectman Elton Cole Andover resident Ron Wells was commended by the selectmen Tuesday night in regard to his assistance to the town. Wells was presented a letter affixed with a gold seal by selectman chair Fred Emerson, who conveyed the board's appreciation.

The letter reads as follows: "The selectmen would like to thank you for your many efforts on behalf of the town's computer system. Over the years you have responded again and again with innovative solutions to problems, both in emergencies and in the creation of new systems to carry out the needs of town recordkeeping.

blems arise inevitably from living said the request could have been denied if there were repeated legally recorded incidences of breaches of the peace or disorderly conduct on or near the premises caused by people patronizing the restaurant. Cole said a total of seven such incidences were reported by either the Boiler Room staff or its neighbors, but that number was not enough for selectmen to refuse signing the request.

"The board has absolutely no reason to deny this application," Cole said. He then told Blanchard "I distinctly remember telling you and two other individuals from your neighborhood, who talked about this issue to us one time, that it would be very important when it came time for liquor license renewal that there documentation.

"Unfortunately, there are a lot of people in this room who have complained about the noise-however, there may be two or three people in this room who have actually called the police department and voiced any kind of concern," Cole said. "Some have talked to me about the issue. I asked, have you called the Boiler Room yourself to ask them to quiet this down, I was told no. I asked have you called the sheriff's office to lodge a complaint, the answer was 'no,' What do you expect me to do about it? You are taxpaying citizens. You are the people who are paying the county and the sheriff's department for protection. If you're not going to call them what do you want me to do?"

"We could as a grandstand say 'no' and refuse to sign the liquor license in support of you," Cole said, "but the fact is it will be sent to the liquor agency and be signed anyway."

In response to the complaints, the town officials have sponsored an article on the annual town meeting warrant asking residents if they are interested in putting together a noise ordinance.

The Savages and some of those complaining about the noise from the restaurant also said they were willing to meet to discuss the problems and possible solutions. The selectmen said they would consider mediating such a meeting, if asked.

Current home owners now eligible for MSHA loans residents who recently have owned a home are eligible for a low interest rate Maine State Housing Authority mortgage, MSHA Director Dwight A. Sewell said.

MSHA is reserving $10 million in its new home ownership program, which offers mortgages at rates of 6.95 percent or 4.95 percent, depending on income, for non first-time home buyers. The interest rates are the lowest the agency has ever offered, Sewell noted.

The low rates and the eligibility of previous home owners to use the program will be available for only a limited time, he said.

Since 1982 federal regulations have restricted MSHA's reduced interest rate program to first-time home buyers, defined as people who have not owned a home in the past three years. The $10 million MSHA is providing comes from a limited amount of funds not subject to these regulations.

"We think this is a great time to open the program to previous home owners," Sewell said, "Our rates are as low as they have been in decades. Home prices also are low, and there is a plentiful supply of homes on the

"We think the new program will be particularly useful to families who have had to sell their home because of a job transfer, change in family status, or some other major dislocation, and cannot afford to buy another home with conventional bank loans."

MSHA's 6.95 percent rate would save borrowers more than $60 a month compared with a conventional $60,000, 30-year mortgage with an interest rate of 8.5 percent; the 4.95 percent rate would save about $140 a month compared with the conventional loan. The 6.95 percent rate is available to

For the first time in a decade Maine families of three or more with incomes up to $40,000 in York and Cumberland counties, and up to $38,500 in other counties. The income limits are slightly less for smaller households. The income limit for the 4.95 percent mortgage rate is $20,000.

Sewell said that in addition to the low interest rate, MSHA's loans have a downpayment requirement of five percent or less. The agency's closing costs assistance program may help pay a portion of the closing costs charged for a home purchase, further reducing the cash needs of some

The special rates and non-first time home buyer provision remain available until the funds are applied for or until the end of March, which ever comes first.

Persons interested in obtaining a MSHA mortgage should apply at one of the more than 30 banks and mortgage companies in the state participating in the program. MSHA does not accept direct applications.

FREE WHITE PINE TREES

Ten free white pine trees will be given to each person who joins The National Arbor Day Foundation during February 1992.

The free trees are part of the nonprofit Foundation's Trees for America campaign.

"The white pines will add yearround beauty to your home and neighborhood," John Rosenow, the Foundation's executive director said. "They are fast-growing landscape trees with soft needles and graceful branching. You can use them as specimen trees or as a privacy screen or windbeak ... even as a beautiful sheared hedge."

The trees will be shipped postpaid at the right time for planting between March 1 and May 31 with enclosed planting instructions. The six to 12 inch trees are guarenteed to grow or they will be replaced free of charge.

To become a member of the Foundation and to receive the free trees. send a $10 membership contribution to Ten Pines, National Arbor Day Foundation, 100 Arbor Avenue, Nebraska City, Nebraska, 68410, by Feb. 29.

Mahoosuc Arts notes:

Singer and songwriter Rick Charette attracted nearly 500 children and parents to Bingham Hall at Gould Academy for a family concert on Tuesday evening of school vacation week.

Rick invited the audience to join in for old favorites "Mud" and "Bubblegum" and several youngsters assisted him on stage acting out the lyrics of "Alligator in the Elevator."

Charette also introduced several new selections from his latest tape "Chicken's on Vacation" and performed original songs written by students in the Woodstock, Andover and Crescent Park schools during his residency, Feb. 10-13.

At the conclusion of the concert, Rick's son Jacob helped draw the winning ticket for the Mahoosuc Arts Portland "Pops" raffle. Dana Douglass of Bethel was the lucky winner of a weekend in Portland for two at the Sonesta Hotel with dinner at Channel Crossing and tickets to the Portland Symphony "Pops." This raffle raised over $100 to support future performances in the SAD #44 schools and communities.

The next Mahoosuc Arts school program will take place on Monday, March 2, when the South Carolina based troupe "Poetry Alive" will travel to Telstar Regional High School and Middle School to perform a variety of poetry from Frost to e.e. cummings and Langston Hughes.

These and all Mahoosuc Arts programs are made possible through the generous support of the Bingham Betterment Fund, SAD #44, Mahoosuc Arts Founding Sponsors: The Bethel Savings Bank, P.H. Chadbourne and Co., the Family of Leslie B. Otten and Dick and Wendy Penley; Mahoosuc Arts Season Underwriters: The Bethel Inn, the Bethel Spa Motel and Shops, and Bonnema Potters; and individual contributions.

AHHS TULIP-TREK 1992

Androscoggin Home Health Services has scheduled Tulip Trek-1992, a noncompetitive cycling event, for Saturday, May 16. Tulip Trek-1992 is open to the public and all proceeds will go to critically needed home services when patients have inadequate insurance coverage.

Major sponsors of this event are Harry E. Nason, Inc.; Platz Associates; The Health Center; Lewiston Sun-Journal; Skelton, Taintor & Abbott, PA; Crockett, Philbrook & Crouch, Attorneys; and St. Mary's Regional Medical Center.

The Trek features two routes: • A 10.5 mile family route around Lake Auburn complete with clues to a puzzle, solve the puzzle and you're eligible for prizes. (10 a.m. start) · A 50 mile route through western Maine. (9 a.m. start)

Both routes start at Central Maine Technical College, 1250 Turner Street, Auburn, and all participants are asked to be at the site by not later than 8:30 a.m.

Routes will be well marked and volunteers will offer assistance as needed. Rest stops will be at appropriate intervals with healthful food and beverages. All cyclists must wear a helmet and observe standard safety procedures. Children under age 16 is needed.

must be accompanied by an adult. Registration fee is $5 or $7 after May 1. Participants must also obtain pledges to be eligible for any of a number of prizes.

For additional information and to obtain registration forms contact AHHS at 795-4025 or 1-800-482-7412.

The Albany Congregational Church met on Saturday, Feb. 1, at Key Bank, Bethel, with 14 members present to act on the resignation of the pastor and to appoint a pulpit committee.

Rev. Norman Rust, who has pastored the church for the past eight summers, has resigned to accept a year-round position in the ministry.

The following pulpit committee was appointed: Jane Wardwell, Kathy Bennett, Margaret Barton, Ron Rolls, and Carlton Rugg. The committee is seeking to interview interested candidates to fill the summer pastorate position. The churches new postal address is P.O. Box 224, Bethel, Maine 04217.

MANAGEMENT CLUB TO MEET

Western Maine Management Club will meet at Chuck Wagon Restaurant and Lyndell Carter are hostesses. A in Mexico on March 2. Social Hour will be from 5:30 to 6:30 with dinner from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. The program begins at 7:30 p.m.

The guest speaker will be June O'Donnell from the Department of Labor, Industrial Safety Division. The topic for discussion will be OSHA.

Western Maine Management Club is a group of people representing Western Maine Businesses who meet on a regular basis to discuss issues and ideas fueling today's businesses. The club is always looking for new individual and business members.

Reservations for the March 2 meeting are being taken by Judy Johnson of Bridgton Knitting Mills, 647-3333. The meal will cost $14 per person. Please phone no later than Thursday, Feb. 27 to reserve.

REPORTING FARM CHANGES

"We urge producers to report any changes in their farm operations which could affect farm program benefits during 1992," said Beverly D. Stevens, CED of the Oxford County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Farm records must be up-to-date to assure that producers get full program benefits, she said. If a change is made in the operation of an existing farm unit, or if a farm will have a new owner effective for 1992, producers should contact ASCS.

"Requests to combine or divide farms should be filed early because reconstitutions require special processing as well as county committee approval," Stevens said. Any changes in land owned or operated should be reported to ASCS as soon as possible. Signup for the 1992 programs begins Feb. 10, 1992.

Jackson-Silver Post #68

It was an honor for members of Jackson-Silver Post #68 to take part in the observance of "Four Chaplain Sunday" which took place at the Locke Mills Union Church on Feb. 9 at 9 a.m. Post Chaplain Rodney Hanscom had part in the welcome as well as the 'Children's Message." Marjorie Swan read the story of the bravery of the Four Chaplains. Stories pertaining to the four individual Chaplains were given as follows: Chaplain George L. Fox, Protestant Chaplain, Sylvia Dunham; Chaplain Alexander Goode, Jewish Chaplain, Harry Swan; Chaplain John P. Washington, Catholic Chaplain, Leland Dunham; and Chaplain Clark V. Poling, Frotestant Chaplain, Kay

Members of the Post along with many friends met at the Legion Hall of the Gore Road, Thursday, Feb. 20 at 6:30 p.m. for their annual oyster stew supper and it was both delicious and bountiful! We were glad to have so many friends from other Posts, including our neighboring Post of Bethel, with us.

Among the guests who each made brief remarks were: State Dept. Vice Commander Bill Ordet, State Dept. Historian Jim Johnson, Second District Commander Warren Pierce, County Vice Commander Bob Moore, Past County Commander Albert

Rotary Club notes

The speaker at the Bethel Rotary Feb. 18 meeting was Mark Ishkamian from Central Maine Power. He spoke on the rate increase and explained in a positive way why we have experienced this. The reasons are many and include the fact that, in an attempt to wean our state away from oil as a form of power, the Maine Energy Policy Act was passed in 1972. It was projected then that oil would become increasingly more expensive so our state developed contracts with many private energy producers that are presently much more costly. In 1991 Maine purchased more than 50 percent of all our energy from in-state producers. CMP has had to purchase the amount of power through these contracts that was demanded when the contracts were developed. The recession has lowered the demand so this has also affected the price. Despite the sobering news, it was a good presentation and Mark was very helpful when answering many of our varied questions.

Stuart Crocker gave Rotary information on a little Rotary trivia having to do with what is on the Bethel Rotary's banner.

Guests for the morning were Sandy. Dennis, Brian Zinchuk, Billy Murphy, ... Barbie Reed and Nathan Seckinger from Bethel; Lennie Shaw from-Gorham, N.H.; and John Goldsmith and Dave Scheifer from Gilford, Conn.

Many thanks to Joe Croteau of details. Carmela's for coordinating our menu project. We have gathered menus from all the chamber member restaurants, which we are putting in binders for the inns and retail stores. If your business would like one, please call the office.

Carol Welch of Mt. Abram reported on the outcome of the Policy Commit- university entitled "Paths to tee meeting which set guideline for travel-trade show as well as conduct for the volunteers. A detail of this report is available upon request.

Dan Reich, chair of the Legislative Committee, reported that he is in the process of reading through the legislative material he has been given and will call a meeting soon.

Many thanks goes out to the Bethel Boy Scout Troop #565, Mark Wigley Scout Master, who have offered to help us with the coupon booklets.

The chamber is in the process of looking for a location to hold our annual awards, scheduled for Thursday, May 7. We would like to have a similar

FIRST AID/CPR COURSE

Does your summer job require you to be certified in First Aid and C.P.R.? If so, you may want to join this upcoming course to avoid the crowded June

The Health Education Department at Stephens Memorial Hospital will offer the American Red Cross Standard First Aid course on Monday, March 16 and Monday, March 23. Classes will be held from 5 to 9 p.m.

This 8-hour course integrates adult cardiopulmonary resuscitation with first aid topics including: bleeding and shock, fractures, sprains and strains, diabetic emergencies and poisoning.

Participants successfully completing the course receive an American Red Cross Adult C.P.R. certificate, which is valid for one year and a Standard First Aid certificate, which is valid for three years.

The fee for the class is $40 and preregistration is required. For more information and registration, please call the Health Education Department of Stephens Memorial Hospital at 743-5933, ext. 471.

THOUGHTS FROM THE

Pastor's Study

The Bethel Area Clergy Association, with the help of pastors of surrounding churches, brings you these meditations. Not based on any set theme, they will be individual for each pastor. It is hoped you will find in these words, comfort and help for your dai-

"More things are wrought by prayer than this world dreams of," wrote Tennyson. In Luke 9:28-36, while Jesus prays, sleepy Peter, James and John behold a glorious transformation. Jesus' shining complexion and garments dazzle them, and the appearance of Moses and Elijah make them wake up and take notice.

They suddenly realize how important their Master is, not just to them but to the whole people of God going all the way back. Here the figures that symbolize God's past revelations are seen helping Jesus prepare for his final days on earth, when he will fulfill the Law and the Prophets and reveal God's love and power for all who follow.

Peter wants to hold on to this vision by building tents for the threeperhaps so he and the others can worship them. But a cloud envelopes them, and when it lifts, the extra two figures are gone. Nevertheless, Peter and his friends are left with the echoing conviction that Jesus has been transformed from a mere carpenter's son to the one chosen to take away the sin of the world.

You and I are capable of being transformed by prayer, too. It may be our own or the prayers of others. The prayer may be occasioned by a life crisis, our personal discipline or the regular worship of a caring congregation. But when we align our hearts and minds with God's loving purposes, such wisdom and power can flow through us that even our dreams will pale by comparison.

But beware: the temptation to hold on to such an experience, to make it happen again or worship it, will be strong—but the effort futile. There will be nothing to do but come down from that particular mount of transfiguration and march toward the next-or toward a mount of sacrifice-in the confidence and the humility that we too are beloved by God.

No date has been set for the

Cancer Society sponsors Annual Daffodil Days

On March 26, 27 and 28 the American Cancer Society's Maine Division will celebrate its 15th Annual Daffodil

The arrival of the Daffodil flower to Maine is not only a true harbinger of spring but is also a symbol of hope to cancer patients. Freshly cut daffodils will arrive in Maine from the West Coast and will be distributed by hundreds of American Cancer Society volunteers throughout the State. Through the efforts of the volunteers nearly half a million daffodils will be brought to various hospitals, nursing homes, churches, schools and companies statewide. The daffodils will also be offered to the public all over Maine in supermarkets and shopping malls. Daffodil Days is the largest fundraiser for the Maine Division of the American Cancer Society. It was first introduced to Maine in 1977, where almost 50,000 flowers were sold netting nearly $6,000. In 1991 Maine Division volunteers sold over 450,000 flowers netting $94,000. All the money donated to the American Cancer Society as a result of Daffodil Days will go to fund cancer control programs in research, education and patient services. For information on the purchasing of daffodils, contact the American Cancer Society's Maine Division at 1-800-464-3102.

BE A GOOD NEIGHBOR

Let's all join together and make the designated driver concept work in our community. There are too many lives at stake for us not to succeed.
